

“The love for all living creatures is the most noble attribute of man.” — CHARLES DARWIN

Greenwood Wildlife Rehabilitation Center

Our Mission

Greenwood's mission is to rehabilitate sick, injured and orphaned wildlife for release into appropriate habitats. Greenwood also strives to educate the public, emphasizing humane solutions to human/wildlife interactions.

History of Greenwood

In 1982, the Humane Society of Boulder Valley (HSBV) founded a wildlife rehabilitation center at their facility. One year later, the family and friends of Natalie Gneiser — a young woman who was killed while trying to rescue an injured dog on the highway — donated memorial funds to this cause, allowing the center to expand to help more patients.

During the next 14 years, the number of animals brought to the Center for care increased 20 - 30% each year. Meanwhile, the City of Boulder grew around HSBV, and it became increasingly difficult to provide a quiet and secure environment for recuperating animals.

In March 1993, the Center incorporated due to its continuous growth and was named Greenwood Wildlife Rehabilitation Sanctuary (officially renamed "Center" in 2008). Greenwood was the name of the Center's first rehabilitated raccoon, which had been burned in a chimney fire. At the time, Greenwood was operating out of a veterinarian's office in north Longmont.

In 1997, Greenwood secured a lease from Boulder County for property on Highway 66 between Longmont and Lyons. For the next 10 years, it operated out of two modular units on this site. Caging was built for raccoons, songbirds, squirrels, rabbits, coyotes, and foxes.

In 2006, Greenwood began to address the need for a badly needed new facility, which had been a dream for many years. In 2007, the Center received a contribution to purchase the previously leased property as well as an additional 1.5 acres. Another large contribution provided funds to help build a new, state-of-the-art facility, with donations coming from many other donors.

Greenwood moved into the new building in early 2009. This great step forward was a testament to the commitment of Greenwood's supporters and the broader community to provide the best care possible for orphaned and injured wildlife.

Fundraising efforts and the annual budget continued to increase with the addition of a Thrift Shop in 2004 and an annual major event, Wild Night for Wildlife, in 2009. In 2012, Greenwood relocated the Thrift Shop and expanded its retail efforts to include a Consignment Gallery, the only nonprofit store of its kind in Boulder County. Education and outreach programs, the other important component of the Greenwood mission, continue to grow.

Since its inception, nearly 200 species have been rehabilitated at Greenwood. With only a small year-round staff, the majority of personnel needed to operate the Center are the more than 500 volunteers, interns, and seasonal employees who work diligently from March through October caring for up to 400 animals per day. Greenwood currently has 18 rehabilitators licensed by the Colorado Division of Parks and Wildlife, and our success rate remains high. As the only facility providing care for a wide variety of species from north of Pueblo to the Wyoming border, Greenwood provides leadership to the wildlife rehabilitation community throughout Colorado and the nation.

From the Board President

Saving one animal won't change the world. But it will change the world for that one animal. — ANONYMOUS

Dear Supporters,

Once again, Greenwood has had an exceptional year. With support from our donors, our amazing staff, and our unbelievably committed volunteers, we once again fed, mended, raised, and most importantly released thousands of animals. It is heartwarming to think of the impact this great organization has on the defenseless creatures that it serves.

We continue to be the only large rehabilitation center from north of Pueblo to Wyoming. As the population in this area continues to grow, the animals we serve will continue to feel the impact. This year we treated over 3,400 animals — from songbirds to raccoons to squirrels and even a stowaway Ringtail Cat, which is really a member of the raccoon family. The stories of their survival are why we continue to strive every day to make sure that we are here for years to come to serve this population. Through our Education and Outreach program, we were able to enlighten almost 5,000 participants at 71 events. This program is vital to ensuring we are educating as many community members as possible on how to live peacefully with nature.

Staff and Volunteers! While Greenwood is fortunate to have eight year-round staff and 24 seasonal staff at our center, 11 year-round staff members at our stores, and 18 licensed rehabilitators on board, we are truly grateful for all of our volunteers that assist us each year and continue to support our efforts with their time and resources. Quite honestly, we could not do most of the work we do without community support. Volunteers, including our all-volunteer board, contributed over 50,000 hours this past year. We also had 62 interns this past busy season, for a total of 7,583 hours! What a great way to get exposure to this type of career. It is our intention to continue building our volunteer network, and I would like to encourage you to contact us if you have an interest in serving or know of someone who has a heart to help these animals.

Breaking records left and right. How can we show our appreciation to every one of you that has supported us financially in the last year? With a big "Thank You!" We set an all-time Colorado Gives Day record with donations of $43,000. This great news was only seconded by the success for our annual fundraiser, Wild Night for Wildlife. Don't forget to mark your calendars for 5:30 pm on Friday, September 7, 2018. It is a great evening of drinks, dinner, games, and the ever popular silent and live auctions.

What does the future hold? We are confident that we will continue to see an influx of animals and feel stress from too few rehabilitation centers and trained in-home rehabilitators along the Front Range. We are also confident that we will be here, working to ensure that we continue to be financially stable, and are thinking outside the box to attract additional donors and volunteers.

I am honored to serve this organization. Thank you all once again for all that you do!

Sincerely,

Feeding Orphaned Raccoon

Volunteer, Internship, and Education/Outreach Summary

Greenwood cared for 3,411 animals in 2017, and we couldn't have done it without the thousands of hours dedicated by hundreds of volunteers. Our Volunteer Program welcomed a total of 481 volunteers and interns who donated 50,345 hours to animal care, education and outreach, Thrift Shop & Consignment Gallery assistance, fundraising, and more. The majority of their time was spent caring for baby mammals, songbirds, and waterfowl / shorebirds between the months of March and October — our busy baby season.

We continued to refine and enhance our Internship Program, providing hands-on instruction to 62 students. They spent a total of 9,029 hours getting real-world experience caring for orphaned and injured wildlife. Greenwood's Internship Program exposes students to an emerging discipline within the wildlife and environmental conservation fields. They learn how to live with wildlife that are getting displaced by the expanding human footprint and also how to become good stewards for all the creatures that are an important part of our shared ecosystem.

Greenwood's Education/Outreach Program strives to achieve a similar goal — teaching people how to live with their local wildlife humanely and without conflict. Our program reached 4,954 adults and children in 2017 throughout Boulder County and beyond. Venues included public and private school classrooms, summer camps, library programs, scout meetings, birthday parties, volunteer and career fairs, environmental-related events, and more. In addition, our Animal Care Liaisons field thousands of calls per year, sometimes up to 100 each day, helping the public with human/wildlife issues.

Releasing Raccoons

Thrift Shop & Consignment Gallery

As we plan for a new year, we look back on our successes in 2017. The past year brought us a new look in our Consignment Gallery. Opening up the store floor plan sheds additional light over the entire area. Our customers rave about how much easier it is to navigate and find treasures. Enlarging our art inventory gives us a look similar to a small art gallery. Daily arrivals of furniture, jewelry, and decor continue to draw in our regular customers, and our fabulous reputation brings us new customers each day.

The Thrift Shop will get a partial update as we begin 2018, due to growing inventory and customer base. When we receive daily donations, our staff and volunteers work hard to stock the shelves and racks. Our vast selection of clothing for all ages continues to grow, and last year we began receiving expired stock from a local clothing store. This monthly donation has been a real plus for our "chic" clients. It's always great to see our customers' faces in the Thrift Shop — purchasing books, clothing, housewares, electronics, jewelry, décor, and more. New faces. Young faces. Senior faces. Men faces. Women faces. Children faces. Everyone loves to THRIFT!

Our customers, consignors, donors and volunteers feel passionate about recycling and reusing furniture, clothing, jewelry and household goods. We are fortunate that this passion means funding rehabilitation for animals at the center.
